abominable state of the drains, and says: "Could not something be done to mitigate this evil, which is not, perhaps, wholly preventable? The matter is, at all events, deserving of attention, since the health of the inhabitants may be injuriously affected by it. Nothing is more calculated to engender epidemics than foul or defective drainage. It trusts the Authorities will lose no time in taking some remedial measures to abate the nuisance."

THE HONGKONG NATIVE PRESS.

The Chinese Mail has an article on European politics in reference to the Turkish question. It says England does not hold the destiny of Europe, because she cannot fight any one of the great powers on the Continent single-handed. England being an island and possessing a very powerful navy, her position is impregnable to any attack from an invader; at the same time she cannot land a sufficient force on a neighbouring country to carry on a war with it single-handed. England would make a very formidable ally to one of the continental powers.

The Hung Nghi San Po (the Chinese issue of the Daily Press) has no editorial in this issue.

The Universal, Circulating Herald following the wake of the Chinese Mail, has an article on the defects of the Martini-Henry rifle. The same issue contains some domestic stories.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Two native papers announce their New-year holidays from the 24th instant, to the 29th instant inclusive.

CAPTAIN BAX of H. M. S. Dwarf has, we observe, published an account of her cruise in these waters.

The following are the contents of our sixth page in this issue:—Baby e. Theology, The Elm and the Vine, Portfolio, Obedience Orders, The Magic Handkerchief, Speculation in Stocks, Dr. Moffat at Westminster Abbey, and Miscellaneous.

We regret to hear that the Chief Officer of the S. S. Malacca met with a serious accident on board three days since. The cargo was being taken on board and the chain pendant used for hoisting it in gave way, and the contents of the slings (3 boxes of wax) fell into the hold where the Chief Officer was standing, breaking some of his ribs. In consequence of the vessel having to leave in the morning, he was brought ashore this afternoon and taken to the hospital.

The following is the order of Service of St. John's Cathedral, Hongkong, 3rd Sunday after Epiphany, 23rd January, 1876:—

Morning Prayer, Litany and Sermon at 11;—Reader, The Colonial Chaplain; Preacher, The Bishop of the Diocese; First Lesson, Isaiah, Lxxi.; Second Lesson, Matthew, xii., verse 24 to verse 53; Venite, No. 5 Mercer; Te Deum, W. H. Sangster; Benedic, 14 Mercer; First Hymn, "How beautious are their feet," No. 126; Second Hymn, "Lord, as to Thy dear we flee," No. 356.

Evening Prayer and Sermon at 4;—Reader, The Colonial Chaplain; Preacher, The Colonial Chaplain; First Lesson, Isaiah, Lxxv.; Second Lesson, Acts xiv.; Psalms, No. 132, page 134; Service, Wesley in F. Anthur, "Cast thy burden upon the Lord," No. 30; Hymn after Sermon, No. 13, in Merce, "All praise to thee, do."

The Daily Press publishes the following telegrams:—

Calcutta, Jan. 20.—The Prince of Wales witnessed at Calcutta a sham fight in which upwards of 20,000 men were engaged. He next proceeds on a visit to the Rajah of Cashmere, whose preparations for the reception of the Prince are said to be vast.

London, Jan. 18.—Mr. Fish explained to Congress that America only wishes to obtain the moral support of the European powers with regard to American mediation in Cuba. America never threatened Spain, with which country negotiations have been friendly.

NINETEEN of the desperadoes whose attack on the town of Menado in Celebes were recently described in the Straits Times, have been tried and sentenced. Of the 21 prisoners made 2 had died. Of the remainder 17 have been sentenced to be hanged, one has been sentenced to 12 years, another to 8 years, working in chains. From the evidence it appeared that their programme was nothing more or less than the massacre of the whole of the Christians and also of the non-Mahometan portion of the inhabitants of Menado.—Straits Times.

Not the latest received Batavia journals, which come down to the 6th instant, the following official telegram, dated Achen 27th ult., is translated:—

"Operations against the 5 Mahomes began yesterday. Marched out with three columns under command of Colonel Engel, and Major Mekern and Vetter. Vetter's column took enemy's positions at Mitowoo—the two other columns continue operations to-day. Weather favourable. One officer was killed yesterday, and Major Mekern severely wounded, but other losses slight. Enemy's loss considerable. State of health unchanged. Yesterday the Dutch found a French man-of-war arrived in the roadstead.—Ibid.

(L. & C. Express.)

LIEUTENANT Chas. E. Hayward (1873) and Sub-Lieutenant James S. Muggeridge (1871) are appointed to the Kestrel, and Lieutenant General C. Underwood (1874) and Captain H.

Barnard (1872) to the Frolic, on the China Station. Three corporals and four gunners, R.M.A., and twenty-two privates, R.M.I.L., will proceed in the Juno for China, to fill vacancies in the Kestrel, Frolic, and Magazine.

The Juno will probably leave Portsmouth on the 17th Dec.

The Admiralty, having had various plans and proposals submitted to them for raising the Vanguard, have resolved on throwing the operation open to public competition and they are prepared to receive tenders for raising the ship and delivering her in dock.

Mr. Aaron, both in the manner he unfolded these posters, and imitated several well-known members of the community whilst singing "Walking on the Bund," evinced great comic talent, and was keenly appreciated by the audience. Mr. C. Ross Rivers as Dick Spooner, treated us to some very amusing episodes from the pig sty into which he had been thrown by Billy Doo and Mr. Spruce (an elderly irascible gentleman carefully rendered by Mr. P. Great credit is also due to the gentleman who undertook the thankless part of the pig. He did not appear on the stage, but he made his presence known by a series of the most beautifully modulated grunts, and was the object of a special "call before." This the third performance of the season of the Canton A.D.C. commanded great success, and it is to be hoped that the co-operation of the German and English will soon bring about a fourth performance.

Mr. Aaron, both in the manner he unfolded these posters, and imitated several well-known members of the community whilst singing "Walking on the Bund," evinced great comic talent, and was keenly appreciated by the audience. Mr. C. Ross Rivers as Dick Spooner, treated us to some very amusing episodes from the pig sty into which he had been thrown by Billy Doo and Mr. Spruce (an elderly irascible gentleman carefully rendered by Mr. P. King), and Miss Highfiyer as Miss Wiggin very fairly personified a high-tempered female with a tendency to tears. Great credit is also due to the gentleman who undertook the thankless part of the pig. He did not appear on the stage, but he made his presence known by a series of the most beautifully modulated grunts, and was the object of a special "call before." This the third performance of the season of the Canton A.D.C. commanded great success, and it is to be hoped that the co-operation of the German and English will soon bring about a fourth performance.

BABY VERSUS THEOLOGY.

A smiling face, a dimpled chin,
Some tender eyes of blue;
Wherefore is she condemned for sin,
My little maid of two?

The sun to meet me up the path;

Her grace divine renew;

Tis false! she is no child of wrath,

This little maid of two.

Her little hand is on my cheek,

It fits me through and through;

My lips refuse words to speak;

But kiss my maid of two.

You talk of primal wickedness;

What has that to do?

With this laughing blessedness?

This little maid of two.

“Be it so! and totally undone.”

“I think you’re right;

But when your arguments are—”

“They will my maid of two.”

Her little grace her artless ways,

Her little love as true,

But yield their palms, bestow their crowns

On little maid of two!

B. S. Parker.

THE ELM AND THE VINE.

[From the Spanish of Jose Rosas de Mexico.]

BY WILLIAM G. BEVANT.

“Uphold my feeble branches—

With thy strong arms, I pray—

The Elm, her neighbour—

The Vine was heard to say:

“Else, lying low and helpless,

A weary lot is mine;

Crawled o’er by every reptile,

And browsed by hungry kine.”

The Elm was moved to pity;

Then spoke the generous tree:

“My hapless friend, come hither,

And find support in me.”

The kindly Elm, receiving

The graceful Vine’s embrace,

Became by that adornment,

The verdant pride and grace;

Became the chosen covert,

In which the wild birds sing;

Became the joys of shepherds,

And glory of the Spring.

Oh beautiful example!

For youthful minds to heed!

The good we do to others.

Shall never miss its need;

The love of those whose sorrows

We light shall be ours,

And o’er the path we walk in

That love shall scatter flowers.

Joy is a pride, unbought, and is freest,

In its flow when it comes, unsuspect.

No getting into heaven as a place will complete it. You must carry it with you, else

it is not there. You must have it in you,

In the music of a well-ordered soul, the fire of a holy purpose, the welling up, out of the central depth, of eternal springs, that hides their waters there.—Horace Bushell.

The happiness of life consists, like the day, not in single flashes of light, but in the

beautiful period of the heart’s existence, is in that calm equable light, even although it may be only moonlight or twilight. Now the mind alone can obtain for us this heavenly cheerfulness and peace.—Richter.

Linx flakes of snow, that fall unperceived

upon the earth, the seemingly importunate events of life succeed one another. As the one gathers together, so are our habits formed. No single habit is added to the pile, produces a sensible change. No single action creates, however it may exhibit

a man’s character; but as the tempest hurts the avalanche down the mountain, and overwhelms the inhabitant and his habitation, so passion, acting upon the elements of mischief, which pernicious habits have brought together by imperceptible accumulation, may overthrow the edifice of truth and virtue.—Bentham.

To have our hearts balanced on God as their centre, and so balanced that under the ruder touches of temptation they may be moved to and fro like nicely poised stones of the Druids, but like those stones always return again to their rest,—that is to be blessed, like the Psalmist who said after some rough onset of Satan, “I shall not be greatly moved.”—Heaton.

Snow-lives are both the praiser and the praised; and the rememberer and the remembered; and all this in a nook of this part of the world; and not even here do all agree, no, not any one with himself and the whole earth, too, is a point.

Oh, there is any exercise, in which the Christian should be modest, it is that of prayer. The Lord’s prayer is a model in this respect. Through its petition the soul is made to keep its aspirations within careful limits. The soul of all praying is “They will, not mine, be done.” True reverence is never dictatorial in its supposition. It does not take hold even of the mercy of God rudely, as if it would compel a response; but gently, even timidly, as it would suggest the need of help from it.

There is a robustious style of praying in vulgar that is excessively painful to the sensitive spirit. You need not, however, your wants into the ear of God, as if his love was hard of hearing and his attention must be attracted to you by your loud shouting. Imitate the little child, rather, who always climbs up to the mother’s bosom, and whispers its request into the attentive ear, when something special and specially sweet is craved. For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open to their prayer.”—Golden Hall.

It is a most unseemly and unpleasant thing to see a man’s life full of the anxieties, and step like a Christian and another like a worldling; it can but kill pain himself and mar the edification of others.

None of us ever desired anything more ardently than God desires to bring men to the knowledge of himself. God is ever ready, but we are very unready. God is righteously (but we are far from him)

God is within, but we are without; God is at home, we are strangers.

What most the world applauds you must despise.

The best name by which we can think of God is Father. It is a loving, deep, sweet heart-touching name; for the hand of father in its nature full of inherent sweetness and comfort. Therefore also we confess ourselves children of God; for we there is a sweeter sound to the Father than the voice of his child. —Martin Luther.

OBEYING ORDERS.

A RUSSIAN STORY.

Sunderland was a fat, jolly banker, named from the English town of Sunderland, the Second. This old gentleman had three sons, and his wife had given birth to a daughter within the year.

“Sir,” said a valet de chambre, entering, “the master of the house, Mr. Sunderland, has sent for you.”

“What does he want?” asked the banker.

“I have nothing to do with him,”

THE CHINA REVIEW.

THE widely-expressed regret at the discontinuance of Notes & Queries on China and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

The China Review, or Notes and Queries on the Far East, is issued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octavo pages, occasionally illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter.

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance.

The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Customs, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelago, and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a résumé in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department.

Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which, though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in hand. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August, 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two essays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty-page, bi-monthly, repertory of what schools are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Review. Address China Review, Hongkong—Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.).

Traveller's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review:—"This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hongkong, where it has been set on foot to in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated, and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In a paper on Dr. Legge's She Kung, by the Rev. R. J. Ellet, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese post-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-po, by Mr. E. C. Bourne, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary graces. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, it carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its predecessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance. The publication is intended to appear every two months, and will form a substantial octavo magazine."

THE CHINESE MAIL.

This paper is now issued every day. The subscription is fixed at Four Dollars per annum, delivered in Hongkong, or Seven Dollars Fifty Cents including postage to Coast ports.

It is the first Chinese Newspaper ever issued under purely native direction. The editorial department is conducted by Mr. Chuan Ayin, whose experience and competence have already been most fully demonstrated. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community, amongst whom also are to be found the guarantors and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing.

The predictions, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan, Australia, California, Singapore, Penang, Satow, and other places frequented by the Chinese, consider themselves justified in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 8,000 and 4,000 copies. The advantages offered to advertisers are therefore unusually great and will be of interest to all the foreign community generally will find it to their interest to avail themselves of these facilities.

The field open to a paper of this description—conducted by native actors, but progressive and anti-obtrusive in tone—almost unlimited. It on the one hand commands Chinese belief and interest while on the other deserves every aid that can be given to it by foreigners. Like English journals it contains Editorial News and Advertisements.
